FORSTER COMMAGERE

Residents of Bay St. Louis and hundreds of men and boys throughout the South this week mourned the passing of Forster Commagere, one of the truly great high school athletic coaches of the past thirty years, who died suddenly Friday at the wheel of his car, which he managed to stop before he passed into the Great Beyond. Many of the athletic feats performed by Forster's "Boys" here at St. Stanislaus were responsible for bringing national and international fame to this section of the South, and making the name of St. Stanislaus one to be feared in every branch of athletic competition, during the 1920's.

Forster was not only a coach to his boys, he was their friend and counselor. He lived with them and for them, and no coach ever tried harder to instill into these young men the true meaning of sportsmanship and courage than he did and he was successful with most of them. Among the more famous of the boys he coached and developed and who have gone on to national fame are men like Nat Tyer, Louisiana Judge; Marchie Schwartz, present coach at Stanford University; Henry "Zeke" Bonura, big-league baseball player; Harry "Wop" Glover and Johnny "Baby Grand" Scafidi, Tulane grid greats; Walter Gex, Hippo Phillips, and many others.

As one of New Orleans' sports writers said of him, "Few coaches ever handled large groups of boys in four-year turnovers ever inspired the love and respect that Commagere's boys showed for him. He put character, honesty, clean-thinking, and clean living ahead of everything else and was able to convince many a tiny youngster that if he had the will and if he abided by a standard of clean living he'd make good in any branch of athletics he attempted."

The athletic world, and especially the school and amateur sports circles of Louisiana and Mississippi, gained a lot through the long and useful career of this fine chap, who went into the lists to compete with men half again bigger than himself and won glory for himself and his schools."

A COSTLY MENACE

Forest fires, in the next few months, raging over valuable timber lands, will cause damage that may run into the hundreds of millions of dollars. Last year, many thousands of square miles of forest lands were burned over and the presumption is that the area devastated this season will be much larger, unless adequate care is taken to prevent the carelessness to which most of the fires are attributed.

Readers of this newspaper should realize that eighty per cent of the forest fires which destroy so much valuable timber, are caused by the action of man—one-fifth of which is attributed to careless smokers.

The carelessness of American people in such matters is a source of great amazement to peoples of other lands. It takes an emergency such as the present one to make American citizens realize that conservation of natural resources should be the practice in this country.

ADVERTISERS HELP

It is not often that we ask favors of our readers, but here's one you can do for us. Every time you buy from an advertiser in the Hancock County Eagle, mention the fact that you saw the article purchased advertised in this newspaper.

As most readers understand, the income of a newspaper is two-fold: from the subscribers and from the advertisers. Naturally, the way to satisfy readers is to publish as fine a newspaper as possible and the extent of any newspaper's news coverage depends, to a large degree, upon the amount of advertising carried.

The advertiser, who buys space in a newspaper for the purpose of promoting his sales, will be more inclined to continue his advertising if he gets definite proof that it brings results. The best way to call this to the attention of any advertiser is for customers, who buy in response to advertising, to tell the advertiser that the business came to him as a result of a particular advertisement.

Convinced that advertising is producing sales, the business man will continue to use newspaper space, which will cause the newspaper to enjoy a larger income. This, in turn, will enable it to improve and enlarge its reading content for the benefit of subscribers.

So, the next time you make a purchase as a result of an advertisement in this newspaper, do us the favor of telling the merchant that the business came to him as a result of his advertisement in our columns. We thank you!

Congressional Sidelights

—by— CONGRESSMAN WM. M. COLMER

WIND UP

When the House, after a ten day recess to allow the Senate to catch up with the legislative program, resumed work last week many confident predictions were heard that Congress would wind up all the legislation referred to the President for prosecution of the Korean war and adjourn by Saturday. Such hopes faded as the week wore on, and as things are written the prospects are that the wind up will come before September 23 and maybe later.

The key to this situation is what action the President takes on that controversial bill and how his acts after it reaches his desk for signature. Something may be indicated that he is about to sign the Mundt-Nix bill, the original anti-Red bill, on the ground that it would violate fundamental personal liberties, but his attitude on the final version of the measure can only be conjectured. The legislation passed both Houses by one-sided majorities, 54 to 20 in the House and 70 to 17 in the Senate, for more than enough to avert a veto. Only two Senators from the South voted against the bill. Graham, who was defeated for renomination in North Carolina a month ago, and Ketner, of Tennessee, Senator Taylor, former running mate of Henry Wallace on the Progressive Party ticket in 1948, who was also recently defeated for renomination, was another of the seven opposing the bill. The legislature is not in conference to iron out the differences between the House and Senate versions. If Congress is not still in session when a bill reaches the President, he will have the privilege of killing it simply by not signing it. This possibility of a pocket veto leads to general reluctance in Congress to leave Washington.

Before the President has taken some action on the anti-subversive bill, the Administration leaders insist that he will act promptly upon receipt of the bill, and if he does so, the Congress can recess on schedule.

EXCESS-PROFITS TAX

Much of the week was consumed in the House in a squabble over when an excess-profits tax is to be considered. In spite of strong sentiment in Congress for the immediate imposition of an excess profits tax after the Korean war developed, the Senate Finance Committee took the position that it was no simple matter to find a formula for a tax that would skim off war profits without upsetting the whole economy and that the matter should be held over until next year to give time for a full study of the problem. When the bill came before the Senate, an excess-profits tax proposal was voted down only after a provision was written in calling for such a study, with a view to imposing the tax in 1951 but making it retroactive to July or October 1, 1950. The House went one step

PEARL RIVER COLLEGE TO TRY AGAIN SAT. FOR INITIAL WIN

Poplarville. The Pearl River College Wildcats will try to enter the win column this week at the expense of the Summit Bears when they clash at Poplarville Saturday night at 8:15. Summit, picked by the junior college coaches in a pre-season poll to come in fourth in the final standings, defeated Wesson 13-12 in their opener, while the Wildcats from Pearl River held a 20 point lead to go down before the Holmes junior college Bulldogs 20-38.

Coach T. D. Holden and assistants Fred Henley and Woodrow Daley have been working their charge on defensive tactics this week, trying to work out some of the greenness which caused their downfall at Goodman.

The Wildcat squad is due to improve as the inexperienced players get more game time behind them, and the game with Summit should find the two squads pretty evenly matched.

The PRC attack will largely be in the hands of a fleet of pony backs operating behind an offensive line that averages 191 pounds from end to end. Billy Jarrell, a Picayune boy, is the key man in the Wildcat T. A smooth ballhandler at the man under spot, he is also a competent passer. One of his toises in the Goodman game went to end Cecil Faulkner for 40 yards and a touchdown.

Another back who should add to the worries of the Bear defensive line up is Donnie Teel. Teel, running from left halfback position, is an elusive speedster who is especially good on punt and kickoff returns. No slouch at running from scrimmage, Teel took off on a 35 yard punt that ended in the end zone for six points for the Wildcats in the Goodman game.

Other backs who showed up well in the game against Goodman and who are being counted on for a lot of action against the Bears are halfback Kline Courtney and fullback M. R. Richards. Richards scored against Goodman on a two yard line plunge.

Probable offensive starters for the Wildcats are ends Hillman Breland, (176) and Cecil Faulkner (170); tackles Malcolm Bailey (180) and Ellard Brantley (205); guards Ernest Burger (22) and Fred Garrett (190); center Jack Love (215); and backs Billy Jarrell (145), Donnie Teel (163), Kline Courtney (170), M. R. Richards (168).

The probable defensive lineup includes ends Hillman Breland and Jack Morris (188); tackles Malcolm Bailey further when the bill came back to it by adopting an amendment to require the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee to report a bill to levy an excess-profits tax before the adjournment of the 81st Congress. This would permit the Congress to recess until November and still consider the proposed levy to January 3, when the 81st Congress expires.

The proponent of this amendment insists that it morally binds the House to vote an excess-profits tax, but other members say that it was simply an expression of a hope that Congress will act this year.

CONNER SERVICES HELD IN JACKSON MONDAY

Jackson Martin Sennett "Mike" Conner, the man who weathered one of the most turbulent times in state history as governor of Mississippi, was laid to rest in the quiet beauty of the Lakewood Memorial cemetery in Jackson Monday.

Ranking state officials, including Gov. Fielding L. Wright, Lieut. Gov. Sam Lumpkin and members of the state supreme court, joined hundreds of friends of the former governor to pay their last respects.

Death had come to the former Mississippi chief executive Saturday night, after nearly four years of ill health.

He was 59. The rose-decked bronze coffin bearing his remains Monday was taken to Galloway Memorial Church for Methodist church services.

Mike Conner was eulogized by the Rev. W. B. Selah, pastor of the Galloway church, as "a great citizen...the kind of citizen of which any commonwealth can be proud."

"It is men of integrity in politics that form the bulwark of our freedom," Dr. Selah declared. "Gov. Conner was a man of sterling honesty and unquestioned integrity."

BILOXI NOW HAS NEW BREAKFAST CLUB RADIO PROGRAM

It is not necessary to go to New York or Hollywood to enjoy a Breakfast Club Program on the radio. There is one at the Buena Vista Hotel near Biloxi and last Friday two women won $25 certificates on new electric refrigerators, one won a set of aluminum pots, the one from the farthest place won a set of handcraft ash trays, the oldest person, who happened to be attending a Tung Oil Convention there, won a corsage and the youngest mother, about 22 years old, won a pair of sport shoes.

The program is conducted just as are the nationally broadcast breakfast club programs, on a much smaller scale, but is just as lively and as much fun.

Everybody has a plan and all of them begin with getting somebody else to do the work.

RECORD TAXES

Senator Walter George, (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, warns that the nation can expect Federal taxes next year to reach a record high, near $50,000,000,000, an overall increase of about $12,000,000,000. He predicts that a "second installment" tax bill, to collect about $7,000,000,000 more revenue to help pay for the fighting in Korea and to bolster the nation's defenses, will be taken up by Congress in January.

POLIO

The epidemic of poliomyelitis this year is not expected to reach the record set in 1949, although the peak polio period is just approaching. Up to September 1st, 11,846 new cases had been reported, compared with 20,531 for the same period last year.

INJURED IN ACCIDENT ON BOAT WHILE SHRIMPING TWELVE MILES OUT

While shrimping about 12 miles out on his boat, "Mary Jane," Joseph Wymer, about 32, sustained severe injury to his leg midway between the ankle and knee when it was caught in the friction on the boat. The accident occurred about noon on Wednesday, George Griffin, of Pass Christian, who was on the boat with him, came to his aid, and Joe Benigno and his son-in-law on the "Jo Ann" shrimp boat nearby brought him ashore at the pen at Henderson Point. Dr. Taylor, of Pass Christian directed his removal from the boat to a stretcher, which was placed in an ambulance and the injured man was taken to Memorial Hospital in Gulfport about

Friday, September 8, 1950, was an eventful day for residents of the Vancleave community in Jackson County.

Following completion of a Southern Bell Telephone Company rural project in the area, the telephone service to the area is provided by modern dial equipment. The telephones in Vancleave and surrounding area are connected directly to the dial unit which is located in a building near the Vancleave Post building.

Work on the new project started last month with a big get together and barbecue at the Vancleave United School.

Invited to a number of prominent citizens, including Hermes Gau and others, Representative from Jack County, and A. P. Moran, President of the Jackson County Board of Education, drove a long distance to attend the meeting. They brought the 60 pieces of Pasagoula lumber they boasted on having cut at the school grounds.

Following, they also saw motion pictures on the project and the children taken some two weeks before. The film also included pictures of the new telephone line from Vancleave.

Celebration of the Vancleave project included similar celebrations which have been held near Lumberville, in Winston County, and Sardis, near Starkville, and Union Church, near Fayette.

Between eight and ten other such individual telephone switching units have been announced by the Telephone Company as either under way or contemplated from the Gulf Coast to the western portion of the State. The Vancleave project was placed into operation at a cost of approximately $10,000 and contains, among other equipment, 8,300 miles of wire. Telephone instruments will be placed on 624 miles of the Singing River Electric Power Association under a joint use agreement between the Southern Bell Company and the Cooperative.

The program Friday began at 11:30 a.m. and lasted for about two hours, a portion of it being broadcast over Radio Station WVM. More than 600 people were present when T. L. Murphy, Vice-president of the Atlanta Bell Telephone Company, made the first call.

Representative Gauthier congratulated the people of the area on the completion of the new service.

It was suggested to the people of the Company on this installation, pointing to the fact that the new service should be of great benefit to the Negro population, that special help to Jackson County, Miss., T. E. Harris, Mississippi Manager of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, thanked the people for the way that they accepted this project. Mr. Harris also said that the Company plans similar projects to toward the poor, rural, tract areas of the communities of Hurley, Wade Hill, a portion of George, Prairie, and Big Point, Cumbe Bluff and Three Rivers.

The George County area surrounding Lucedale is also to receive further emergency powers. Some legislators expressed themselves, however, of clemency for the program.

Edward A. Khayat acted as master of ceremonies until some definite date rather than an adjournment.

MEC PLANS FORUM SERIES IN OCTOBER

Jackson Directors of the Mississippi Economic Council revealed plans for 24 grass root forums during October to explain work being done by the council's committees.

At the same time, MEC president, A. F. Chisholm, called on business leaders of the state to join the organization to help keep the state on an even keel during these times.

Businessmen generally haven't assumed their full responsibility in public affairs. Chisholm said. "We must suffer the consequences. If we don't do what we can to keep the country on a solid foundation we can only blame ourselves for slipping backward."

The 24 meetings will be held in a two week period, exact date to be fixed later.

GI SCHOOL ABUSE

A special House committee has been appointed to conduct a full-scale inquiry into abuses in the education program of the Veterans Administration. A report issued in January by Gen. Carl R. Gray, Jr., veterans administrator, listed more than 200 schools in which irregularities had occurred.

Mississippi Mayors Asked To Serve As Chairmen for Crusade For Freedom

Jackson—Mayors of each Mississippi town will be permanently enshrined in the base of the Freedom Bell.

Mississippi will be invited to back up their signature with contributions to Radio Free Europe, the citizen supported radio station in Western Germany which is daily answering Communist lies with the truth about democracy.

The National Chairman of the Crusade For Freedom is General Lucius D. Clay, former Military Governor of Berlin. It is backed by General Dwight D. Eisenhower and other prominent Americans.

CANNING PLANT SPONSORED

Prior to that time local chairmen are requested to set up local committees of volunteer citizens in order to obtain the signature of every freedom-loving Mississippian on the Freedom Scrolls containing the Declaration of Freedom.

The Crusade For Freedom is a nationwide movement which offers Americans an opportunity to participate in a campaign to demonstrate before the world our true aims of freedom and friendship for all peoples.

Enrollment in the Crusade will enable individual Americans both to express their faith in a world of human liberty and to support the vigorous private effort now being made to bring a message of truth and encouragement to the millions of people held under Communist rule.

These objectives will be dramatized on October 24 when a giant ten ton Freedom Bell will be dedicated in Berlin. Inscribed on the bell will be a paraphrase from Lincoln: "That this world, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom."

Beer Sales Pour $600,000 Into State's Coffers In Month, Is Claim

BELZ—The sale of beer poured over six months into the general fund of the state of Mississippi during June, an official of the Mississippi Malt Beverage Association said at Belz.

Smith Murphy, Clarksdale president, spoke for the association's members which opened at the Buena Vista and last Thursday quoted the figure and asserted that it is "to the state's advantage to have a taxpayer of this caliber."

The dual meeting of the association consisting of beer distributors, only, and the United States Brewers Foundation, Mississippi division consisting of both licensees and distributors, continued through Friday.

Taxes from the sale of beer rank fifth in the state, Murphy continued. It is being built under the sponsorship of the Parent Teacher Association Home Demonstration Club members and the county agriculturist.

Equipment for shelling peas and processing truck garden produce is being installed.

Southern Bell Seeks Fair Return On State Investment

JACKSON, Miss.—Faced with a backlog of applications for new lines and extensions of its rural program, the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company is seeking a rate increase sufficiently to provide a fair return on its property in Mississippi in order to attract investment of new capital to fill these needs.

The company, through T. E. Harris, its Mississippi manager, has filed an application for the new rates with the Public Service Commission and has requested an early hearing for presentation of evidence to support its position.

No rate increase is asked in the petition which shows present earnings are around 4 percent on the fair value of the company's property devoted to the public service in Mississippi.

We are eager to go right on with our program to meet Mississippi's full needs for good, dependable and expanding telephone service," Mr. Harris said. "We want to fill the needs in the farm areas as well as in the cities and towns."

"But to do these things, the company is faced with the job of raising additional large sums of capital at a time when earnings are too low to attract the capital. Thus, it is important to the continued development of Mississippi that earnings be adequate to attract capital in competition with other business."

Mr. Harris said Mississippi telephone rates in the overall have risen far less than the cost of living in general—only 32 percent on the average, compared with 72½ percent increase in the cost of living. He said it can be seen from that situation that rate increases not only have been small when compared with the increased costs of providing the services, but have also been small when compared with the increase in the costs of other things the public buys.

He said since 1945, Southern Bell has built new facilities in Mississippi amounting to $41,000,000 and now has under construction additional facilities in Mississippi at the rate of about $9,000,000 annually.

Mr. Harris listed the following three main factors as being responsible for the fact that rates and earnings in Mississippi are not adequate:

"The investment Southern Bell must make in facilities to render good, improved and expanding service grows bigger every day. As an example, present Mississippi rates are based on Southern Bell's investment in the state on June 30, 1948, which averaged $2.37 per telephone. Since that time, facilities have been added costing an average of $477, or $210 more than the present rates were designed to meet. This extra cost includes equipment to replace worn-out facilities in

CIGARETTES

While the cigarette-smoking public will spend an extra $125,000,000 in the fiscal year, as a result of the penny pack boost announced in July, the nation's smokers consumed a total 335,000,000,000 cigarettes in the year ended June 30—a new record, being some 3,000,000,000 more than in the previous year. A total of 5,500,000,000 cigars were smoked, a little more than three per cent fewer than in each of the preceding years.

THANKS!

We wish to extend our thanks to our many friends who made it possible for our entire ticket to be overwhelmingly elected in the First Primary.

Many people have wondered why we did not defend ourselves against the bitter attacks and false accusations made by our opponents throughout the past four years. We felt that it would be adverse publicity to our Town to carry on a bitter newspaper campaign, which could only end with even the winner being the loser. Throughout our administration, we have always tried to put the welfare of Waveland first, even before our personal feelings.

Waveland has progressed under this administration for the past eight years, and with the help of the people, we hope it will continue to go forward.

We offer the hand of friendship to those, who exercised their right and voted for candidates of their choice, who were our opponents. We solicit their help in working with us in making our Town of Waveland a better place to live.

NEWS FROM BAY-WAVELAND YACHT CLUB

Mississippi Forest Service Reports 103 Violations For Year Ending June, 1950

There were 103 reported violations of the 1944 fire trespass act to the Mississippi Forest Service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950, according to J. F. Smith, chief of Forest Fire Control, who has just released a summary of all cases.

Of the total violations reported, 99 were settled out of court. Of the thirteen cases tried there were twelve convictions. A total of $395.65 was collected in fines and three jail sentences were imposed.

Mr. Smith explains that violations of the trespass act include the carelessness or deliberate setting of fires on timbered or uncultivated lands, where in many instances adjoining land is endangered or burned.

In discussing the report in a memorandum to district personnel as well as rangers of the Forest Service Mr. Smith called for a more rigid enforcement during the current year from the standpoint of getting more cases in court and settling fewer out of court.

"It is my belief," he said, "that we need to spend more time in trying to get as many cases as possible in court rather than collecting suppression costs.

It is my contention that if heavy penalties are handed out by the courts we will get better results and reduce to a minimum these violations, whether they be deliberate or careless."

Practice Square Dancing On City Hall Grounds On Tuesday Nights

A group of people from Bay St Louis, Waveland, Clermont Harbor and Lakeshore became interested in square dancing and for several weeks practiced in Clermont under the teaching and direction of Mr. Floyd Sones. For the past two Tuesday nights the group has danced at City Park with Mr. Sones calling the patterns and an orchestra of Thomas Leonard and Ola Gene Moran of Waveland, playing rhythmic tunes. Between the square dances, while the dancers caught their breath, teenagers jitterbugged.

At least fifty persons, young and old took part in the square dancing and an estimated hundred looked on.

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Sones, the orchestra and a truck load of people went from the Coast to Marrero, La. for a benefit square dance. The benefit was to raise funds for young William Cox, patient with cerebral palsy at Charity Hospital for the past eight years, so that he might be sent to a hospital in Maryland for special treatment. About five hundred people attended the square dance and one popular hillbilly orchestra after another performed for the dancing. An announcer from WTPS was master of ceremonies.

WAVELAND WANDERINGS

By Georgette Hall

Well it's all over now but the shouting and that's still going on in some places. The Garfield Ladner ticket was swept into office in the election held in Waveland last Saturday. The former mayor and his supporters received a majority of votes and were officially declared the winners late Saturday night. No one in Waveland doubted that the election returns were counted and the winners made known because the blowing of horns and general merrymaking went on in the quiet and stillness of the early morning.

Former Mayor Garfield Ladner was reelected mayor. Fred Bourgeois, Marshal and Tax Collector, Willie Bourgeois, treasurer, Mrs. Fred Bourgeois, Mrs. Mary Moran, Allen Carver, Walter Yarbrough and Mrs. Grace Ann Bordages, the Democratic Committee, J. A. Weinfurter, Alderman, Ward 1; William Bourgeois, Alderman, Ward 2; Tony Bourgeois, Alderman, Ward 3, and Mann Hubbard, Alderman, Ward 4.

Congratulations to our new administration. May Waveland progress and grow under your leadership!

Mayor and Mrs. Garfield Ladner entertained at their home on Sunday evening in celebration of the election. Refreshments and street dancing were enjoyed. The newly elected mayor received the well wishes of all of his friends.

The Democratic Executive Committee met Tuesday in the Waveland Town Hall and certified the leading candidates for nominees in the general election to be held in December.

Before we get off the subject of the election credit is due those worthy citizens of Waveland who assisted so ably at the polls election day. Mr. Ed. Gipson, Mr. Walter Turcotte, and Mrs. El Holdreth served as Election Managers. Mr. Joe Muller served as Peace and Return Officer. Misses Mary Margaret and Cecile Turcotte acted as clerks.

SQUARE DANCE! They're magic words, aren't they? At least they draw crowds like magic and the fun that folks have been having is certainly out of this world. There will be another of these popular dances at the Waveland School Friday night, September 22. The dance, sponsored by the Pier Committee for the benefit of the Mother's Club, promises an evening of fine entertainment. Kid Sauer and His Boys from DeLisle will provide the music. All you need to do is provide yourself and a partner. If you can't provide a partner, just come yourself. There will be plenty partners available after you get there. The time is eight o'clock. You won't want to miss this!

If you want to practice up on your promenading, Tuesday night is the time for it. Practice night will be held at the City Hall in Bay St. Louis then and the general public is cordially invited. Mr. and Mrs. Sones will do the calling.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Luther Ohren of N. O. daughter of Mrs. Henry Nease of Waveland, who was buried in the Waveland cemetery at 1:30 p.m.

Senator Frank C. Gipson and family came from New Orleans to welcome Mayor Garfield upon his return to office. Senator Gipson is the brother of Mr. Ed Gipson.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Landry of New Orleans and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Celino visited the Ed Gipsons over the week end.

STAR THEATRE SHOWING
'THE LAWLESS' NEXT
TUES. & WED., 26-27

Paramount's "The Lawless" opening next Tuesday and Wednesday 26-27 at the Star Theatre is a blistering action drama that explodes on the screen with electrifying force.

Rarely has so serious a theme as intolerance been presented with such startling effectiveness by the movie makers. Most films on controversial subjects tend to be "talky" and static, but "The Lawless" is jam-packed with excitement and thrills from start to finish.

Set in the lush farming area of California where Mexican Americans form the majority of the virtually needed pickers, "The Lawless" explores the powder-keg relationship that exists between these migrant workers and the "pure white" townpeople.

When one of the young Mexican Americans is accused of criminal attack, hot-headed bigots take the lead in forming a lynch mob. Their ranks are swollen by the addition of ordinarily law-abiding citizens caught up in the hysteria, and they almost accomplish their inhuman objective. They are thwarted, however, by a courageous newspaper editor, a girl reporter and an influential business man.

Mardonie Carey and Gail Russell star in "The Lawless," and are in a good measure responsible for the film's powerful impact. But most of the credit goes to Lalo Rios, who makes his movie debut in the picture as the victimized Mexican-American youth.

Directed by Joseph L. Mankiewicz, "The Lawless" was produced by William Pine and William Thomas.

HI-WAY DRIVE-IN TO SHOW "MRS. MIKE" TUESDAY, SEPT. 26

The opening next Tuesday of United Artists' film, "Mrs. Mike," at the Hi-Way Drive-In Theatre makes doubly pertinent the announcement by the publishers, Coward-McCann, that with the publishing of this best-selling novel in Hebrew, one-fourth and one-half million copies of the book have been sold since its publication in 1947.

Selection by the Literary Guild and regular publisher's editions account for well over a million copies early in the first year after publication. The novel, which tells the story of a Canadian Mountie and his wife, with Dick Powell and Evelyn Keyes playing these key roles in the film, was first serialized in Atlantic Monthly and by King Features Syndicate. It was also condensed in Reader's Digest and the New York Post. It was recently reprinted in two paper back editions, one by Bantam and the other especially for the Armed Services.

Up to the current Hebrew edition, "Mrs. Mike" had been printed in 16 languages, with Hebrew now the 17th. Coward-McCann estimates that the novel has become one of the most widely-read books since "Gone With the Wind."

The novel and film are based on the actual life story of Sergeant Mike Flanagan of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, during one of the most exciting and colorful periods of the history of the famous Mounties, just after the turn of the century.

According to critics who have already previewed "Mrs. Mike," a great book definitely has been made into a great picture. The film was directed by Louis King, with Samuel Bischoff serving as executive producer and Edward Gross as producer.

It's the United Nation's banner in Korea but it's the fighting men of Uncle Sam doing the bulk of the fighting.

Old Bill Cantrell used to say, "Against thieves and robbers we have double locks and bars, but against liars we have no defense." Recently a woman of questionable integrity claimed in the presence of some friends of mine that she had spent an entire afternoon in my company playing cards. Actually she has never spent an entire afternoon with me during my life. My friends know better, but would rather people like I sounded like people tell deliberate lies especially to those whom they know don't and couldn't believe them. I know a young man who throughout his eventful life has lied so consistently and shamelessly that no one who knows him ever credits him with telling the truth, even when it actually and miraculously is true.

The most discouraging person one has to deal with is the one whose word you cannot depend on. The liar is the arch-enemy of mankind. I am speaking of the malicious liar and yes, the liar that tries to depict himself at another's expense. Of course there are the necessary lies of decency, lies where we cover a fact that would be cruel or bring disaster. But the lie that is deliberately created to instill a false impression must at some time or other meet its just reward.

There is the lie of the coward who is too weak to face the truth. And the lie of vanity to formulate a better opinion of ourselves and the vicious lie told in order to harm someone. In order not to be a liar we should be sure that we stick to the facts that our intention is clean and free of malice and vanity.

There are those who are innocently and unthinkingly whose memories fail them or whose overall impression is so diverse from the original intention that they seem not to be telling the truth. But they are not the dangerous kind of liar and we smile at them and gently shake our heads. I remember when I was a child I was an ignominious liar. It just seemed less trouble than telling the truth. Not a dangerous lie to be true—but a childish one. My grandmother recognized this unlovely trait in me at an early age and unrelentingly she tried to coerce me into telling the truth. I think I must have been born a dramatist for the truth seemed always so unadorned so unglamorous. As I grew older my grandmother finally won her persistent battle in convincing me that lying even in small degree, was wicked. The time came many years later, when telling the truth in the face of terrible odds, not only saved me my job but won me the precious reputation of being honest.

Someone has said, "the lie of malice is a squeezed-out drop of venom from a mean soul." And—it's only reward is detection and the sacrifice of never being believed again.

Perhaps I've learned to tell the truth too well! I was invited to attend a meeting at which a rather lengthy scriptural reading was part of the program. I love the scriptures but I had not gotten any particular reverence from the speaker's harsh tones and clipped speech. At the expiration of the meeting I was asked by an enterprising downer who beamed with approval, how I liked the speaker's delivery.

per cent on July 15.

MILK PRICES

The Agriculture Department has predicted that wholesale prices to farmers for all milk will rise seasonably throughout the rest of this year, resulting primarily from higher fat content of milk, an increased proportion of milk used in Class I outlets, and scheduled increases in prices of milk for fluid consumption.

DIPLOMATS ARMED

The State Department has authorized its diplomats in certain posts and Southeast Asia to carry firearms for their own personal protection.

POPULATION

Preliminary census returns re-indicate that, as of April 1st, the population of this nation was about 152,-

200,000, which is about 1,100,000 more than had been previously estimated.

The real need of the nation is intelligence—exhibited by voters as well
